Bozeman, MT The staff of Area IV Agency on Aging (AoA) Senior Services Resource Center will host an open house to celebrate a new name and additional community services in their new location at 251 Edelweiss Suite 1-B, Bozeman on Tuesday, February 24 from 1:00-3:00 pm.

AoA serves both aging and disabled adults by providing information, referrals and assistance to access services in their local communities. Peggy Tombre (522-8976) and Pam Cooper (587-0965) invite all who have an interest in senior services to come and see them in their new office. Refreshments will be served.

To find the new location, turn right at Perkin's Restaurant onto Edelweiss. Go north to the "Oakwood Business Center" sign on the left. The office is directly west of this sign.

Area IV AoA Senior Services Resource Center is part of Rocky Mountain Development Council and serves Gallatin, Park, Meagher, Broadwater, Jefferson and Lewis & Clark Counties.

"We really hope seniors in the community and their families will stop by. We would love the opportunity to explain the wide range of services that our office provides that help seniors stay independent, well-informed, and able to access needed services." said Tombre, Information and Assistance Specialist for the Center. "Area Agency on Aging offices are located around the Nation and are often a "hidden" community treasures."

For additional information, contact Peggy Tombre (522-8976) or Pam Cooper (587-0965).
